 Extract from Behrouz Boochani's message on FB:
Yesterday (5 Jan 19) a refugee was beaten up by a guard on Manus. The guards on Manus and Nauru have been beating up innocent refugees in the past six years, over hundred times maybe. On Manus & Nauru there's nowhere for us to go when we are mistreated. We are standing outside the law but still subject to it. A human may be able to survive physical torture and prison, but he/she can never get over humiliation. When you beat up a refugee, you are not hurting them physically only, you're taking their humanity and identity. Humiliation is the ultimate torture.
- 4/01/19: Afghan units led by C.I.A. leave trail of abuse. Victims and officials say raids are pushing people toward the Taliban (The New York Times International Edition)
- 4/01/19: Government Continues to Pretend We Have No Air Borders (Pearls and Irritations) Prime Minister Scott Morrison and Immigration Minister David Coleman continued to pretend yesterday we only have sea borders and we can ignore our air borders. They announced closure of two detention centres (see here) without telling the Australian public that their mismanagement of the visa system will inevitably mean we will need lots of detention space in future if we are to ever regain control of the visa system and deal with the deluge of mainly non-genuine asylum seekers arriving by air (see here).
- 4/01/19: Australia should brace for a volatile year in foreign policy in 2019 (The Conversation) - Australia was increasingly criticised in various multilateral fora for its detention practices on Nauru and Manus Island
